Board asks for hospital services in both villages

by Jerry Grozelle

A sense of relief was evident when a decision was made last Wednesday on the controversial health services front. The Acting Health Services Board voted 11 to 3 to approve a comprehensive motion by board member Bev MacDuff.

Although many of the board members had some reservations about the motion, the majority agreed that it was a step in the right direction and some form of progress was imperative.

In her motion, MacDuff proposed that 15 to 19 acute care beds be consolidated at the Haliburton Hospital; that five to seven observation beds for the purpose of stabilization be added to Hyland Crest; and that 24-hour emergency staffing and heliport accessibility be provided at Hyland Crest and upgraded at the Haliburton Hospital.

Further, MacDuff stipulated that discussions with Ministry of Health be conducted so ministry officials are made aware of the need for emergency care facilities on a 24-hour basis at both Haliburton and Minden. Because of the rural geography, the needs in this area are considerably different than those in Metro Toronto.

The motion also asks the ministry where the responsibility would lie if a patient were to die in transit if no doctors were available to stabilize him or her because a facility wasn't open on a 24-hour basis.

The passing of MacDuff's motion effectively puts the ball back in the Ministry of Health's court.

Some of the board members expressed concern that the ministry would look at the first part of the motion, namely the site selection for the acute care beds, and ignore the rest of the resolution. If that were the case, the board could insist that the ministry accept the entire resolution as submitted or come back with a counter proposal with which the board can live.

When she presented her motion, MacDuff said she was striving to unite the board for the common good of all of the people of Haliburton County. She added that the passing of the motion would serve to start the negotiation process between the board and the ministry.

In defense of the motion, board member Ted Wilkes said that he believes ministry officials are responsible people who will be willing to negotiate.

His optimism wasn't shared by everyone.

Marshall Elliott, executive director of the District Health Council, was in attendance at the meeting. He said that, in his opinion, the ministry's top priority is site selection for the

The eagle has landed!

The Archie Stouffer Elementary School golden eagle is back. The mounted bird was stolen from the school October 2 along with a number of electronic items. According to Constable Wayne Smith, the eagle and a television set were discovered as a result of information provided by the public. He expects the remaining electronics will be found shortly. The theft of the mounted eagle had caught the attention of the public because it would be virtually impossible to replace the bird as it is on the endangered species list. The bird became a part of the school's collection in 1977 when it was found dead on a nearby farm. As a result of the police investigation, two adults and a young offender have been charged with break and enter and possession of stolen property. They are scheduled to appear in court December 7. Teacher George Burley took possession of the bird from the investigating officer Wayne Smith Friday afternoon. Charged are 18 year old Tyler Woodcock and 26 year old Leonard Myke.

Trails will be open for at least one more year

by Andrew Milne

Private landowners threatening to close their lands to public access have declared they will not be doing so.

At least not this year.

They say they would rather deal with whatever government is in power after the next provincial election.

They also say they think the provincial NDP would be quite happy to see Haliburton's winter tourists go to Sudbury.

The Minister of Natural Resources for Ontario says otherwise.

Local landowners with forested land holdings had been threatening to shut the public — including local snowmobile and Nordic ski associations — out of their lands as of November 1, if the Ontario government did not meet certain demands. Their demands were in relation to a tax rebate program which reduced property taxes on holders of forested lands provided they maintained their forests in accordance with certain guidelines meant to ensure sustainable forestry.

The program was suspended in 1993 as part of a cost-cutting measure. Forest owners protested that they could not afford to manage their forests sustainably and pay the full tax allotment. In protest, they threatened to ban the public from using their lands as of November 1 if the government did not reinstate the program or take some equivalent measures.

One local forest owner, Peter Schleifenbaum, also clear cut a token section of his property in protest, saying government policies would eventually require that he cut the rest as well, to raise the money to pay the taxes.

Clear cutting is an often unpopular and sometimes controversial forestry practice, in which entire sections of forest are cut down — leaving fields of bare stumps.

Schleifenbaum runs the 50,000 acre Haliburton Forest and Wildlife Reserve, which derives revenue from charging for access to its network of ski and snowmobile trails, as well as from more traditional land

Fearrey acclaimed

To no one's surprise, former municipal politician Murray Fearrey has been acclaimed to the post of reeve in the municipality of Dysart et al. The popular leader served as reeve for a number of years, but declined to run in the election three years ago.

Fearrey was called back to the council table earlier this year when the man who replaced him, Chris Hodgson was successful in his bid for the riding's provincial seat. Fearrey has served as a councillor for the past six months.

When the deadline for nominations passed at 5 p.m. last Friday, he was the only candidate running for the reeve's post and so he was appointed to the post by acclamation.

In most other jurisdictions in Haliburton County and northern Victoria County there will be elections for most positions. A list of who is running where can be found on page two.

Wendy Ladurantaye: Highlander of the Year

by Andrew Milne

"If Wendy Ladurantaye ever goes public, the stock issue would be oversubscribed instantly."

One man said this quoting a friend. Seems a lot of people feel the same way.

Ladurantaye was declared Highlander of the Year October 11.

The honour is conferred by the Chamber of Commerce at their annual meetings.

Ladurantaye operates Dreams Come True Stained Glass, a stained glass studio, out of a farm the family rents near Lochlin. She was also recognized for her contributions to the community as a school board trustee (for three terms), as an officer of the Minden Business Improvement Area (BIA), and for her work in organizing and promoting the annual studio tour.

"Of course this leaves lots of time for her to be a loving mother and wife, operate a successful horse farm, and to teach a course in glass design at the Haliburton School of Fine Arts," said Bryan Brown of the Chamber, presenting the award.

"Wendy epitomizes who and how Highland people would like to be seen by everyone," he continued. "To conclude I'd like to quote a friend of mine who said, 'If Wendy Ladurantaye ever goes public, the stock issue would be over-subscribed instantly.'"

Ladurantaye was modest about receiving the distinction.

Said Ladurantaye, "I love living here. It's such a wonderful opportunity to raise a family here. And I just can't believe that I've done anything to deserve this."

In her studio on her farm,

The 1994 Highlander of the Year, Wendy Ladurantaye.

Ladurantaye is just as enthusiastic about the area.

She gestures to the scenery that surrounds her. The horses that are another of her passions are in the middle ground behind her, and farther back the colours of autumn crowd the horizon.

"There's something about the highlands," she says. "I don't know what it is. It's very calming. I can have two hundred things to do, and in the morning be watering the horses and just look out at this, and it's just..."

And words fail. She mimes something that must mean calm.

And you know what she means.

The Moore family: Merchants of the Year

by Andrew Milne

They're back from the ashes and they're the business of the year.

The Chamber of Commerce presented the Moore family with the business of the year award October 11.

"Year in, year out, this family business has become synonymous with what it takes to become successful in small town Ontario — and that is to have good business sense, and have dedication and commitment to your community," said Bryan Brown of the chamber, presenting the award.

To call the Moores dedicated is something of an understatement. Tenacious, determined, and indefatigable might be better characterizations. The story of their business — a chain of Westside Jug City convenience stores — goes a little past the stereotypical up-from-humble-origins fare.

As that old story goes, the Moores did start with one mom-and-pop operation, on the outskirts of Gravenhurst, which grew, under their guidance, to the chain it is now. They have stores in Minden, Bracebridge, Bobcaygeon, Haliburton, and Fenelon Falls, and operate a distribution company that buys bulk food to supply the chain. (The original business in Gravenhurst has been sold).

Mention the Moores now and most residents of the highlands will tell you of the fire of only eight months ago, (February 14), which destroyed the family's Minden-based distribution centre and adjoining store.

But they came back. So call it tenacity. Call it chutzpah. Call it what you will. By the summer, the Moores were open for business again.

Gloria Moore accepted the award on behalf of the family.

"On behalf of our Westside family — which is a large family... there are a lot of direct family involved as well as... the girls that are the front line in the stores, we'd like to thank the chamber for honouring us with this award," she said.

"I'd also like to thank, at this time, publicly, not only the seasonal and permanent residents of the highlands but the businesses who rallied around us for the last six months, which have been pretty rough, not only with moral support but with some more tangible support."

"I know a lot of people think the highlands are just for play," she said later. "But we have the best of both worlds. We live here. We work here. We are truly blessed."

Board agrees to compromise resolution

acute care beds and once that is settled, negotiations on other issues would be dealt with. He also stated a fear that if some decision wasn't made soon, the ministry might shift its priorities on the whole Haliburton County Hospitals issue and possibly withdraw funding.

Board member Doug Campbell said he thinks the ministry doesn't care about the small hospitals.

"They're lumping Minden and Haliburton Hospitals in with 50 to 100 bed units," he said. "They're not comparing apples to apples."

He added that there is a 30 minute "window of safety" to get people with serious illnesses or injuries to the nearest hospital and he is worried that the ministry isn't considering that fact in the case of the county's facilities.

"We have to hold them to account," he said.

Board chair Stuart Baker agreed that small hospitals throughout Canada are being phased out. Baker did point out that the number of beds at a facility is not necessarily an indication of the quality of service that can be offered.

A motion to table MacDuff's resolution pending discussions with the ministry to get assurances that funding won't be withdrawn, was defeated.

A recorded vote on MacDuff's motion was called for. The yes votes came from Dwaine Lloyd, Bev MacDuff, Rheta Jones, Ted Wilkes, Barb Wright, Hugh Nichol, Stuart Baker, Joyce Gostock, Ken Wilson, Gord Monk (by proxy) and Barb Dawson (by proxy). The members voting against the motion were Lisa Mercer, Paul Heffer and Doug Campbell.

The decision to support Bev MacDuff's motion is just the first step in a long process. It is not necessarily the most difficult hurdle the board faces. The people of the area must raise more than $4-million as their share of the capital costs of renovations and expansions.

It was pointed out by board member Hugh Nichol that support of all of the people in Haliburton County and the northern part of Victoria County will be essential to raise those funds. Unless there are adequate health care services in both Minden and Haliburton, the likelihood of gaining that financial support is slim.

Another motion dealing with the hiring of a manager to assist the board and looking into the possibility of changing the name of Hyland Crest from Senior Citizens' Home to "Health Care Centre" was endorsed by the board.

The proposed name change is to take advantage of government funding that isn't available to senior citizens' homes.

A third motion, dealing with outpatient and adult day care considerations, was also passed.

Forest owners will wait for election of a new government

use sources — such as stumpage fees.

Local business interests had expressed alarm at the ramifications of the forest owners' threat. The chamber of commerce, as well as a number of individual business owners, took the position that closing the trail systems crossing private land holdings would seriously damage winter tourism, which is believed to be fuelled by snowmobilers and cross-country skiers.

The forest owners say they backed down from their deadline because they feel the current government quite obviously isn't the least bit concerned about their threat.

They go further than this. They say they don't think the provincial NDP is the least bit interested in middle Ontario. They go further still: they say the NDP is out to get this region.

Schleifenbaum says that, since the issue has been on the public agenda, people have come from every corner supporting their cause, but that none of the arguments brought forward seemed to sway the government. Says Schleifenbaum, "We cannot understand how — on that basis — the managed forest tax rebate — or really, fair taxation — is not being reinstated for private forest lands, so we very strongly believe that there is a hidden agenda."

In explaining, he says the forest owners believe that the elected government does not feel there is any value in appeasing Haliburton County. Their best hope in the next elections, he says, are in urban areas and in Northern Ontario, so they are playing to those interests — and would probably be pleased to see Haliburton's tourist industry falter if it benefitted ridings in the North.

"That also became very apparent when we watched what was happening within the Ontario federation of snowmobile clubs," he continues.

"The president of the Ontario Federation of Snowmobile Clubs is also from Sudbury," he said. "It [the Haliburton trails issue] was supposed to be on the agenda of the OFSC, and it did not get put on the agenda; which forest owners found very disappointing."

"They [the government] are ignorant and incompetent," he says.

"Please quote me on that."

Informed by The Times of the forest owners' stance, provincial Minister of Natural Resources Howard Hampton said the forest owners' allegations about the NDP playing to the North are untrue.

Says Hampton, "We certainly want to see the snowmobile/outdoors industry expand in Ontario. We realize it's a multi-million dollar industry. We'd like to see it expand in central Ontario. We'd like to see it expand in eastern Ontario. And we'd like to see it expand in northern Ontario."

Hampton, also says the provincial government is not entirely to blame for the situation. He says the federal government has been uncooperative in funding Ontario initiatives for private land stewardship.

Says Hampton, "Frankly one of the problems Ontario has is that we in Ontario get no support from the federal government for private land forestry. Meanwhile over the last five years the government has provided $75 million worth of support for Quebec. There's more private land forests in Ontario than there are in Quebec."

"For those folks in the Haliburton area to look and say the province has ownership in all of those problems," he continues, "and the province has to solve all of them is just frankly incorrect."

He also said it isn't just a money issue for the government.

"If people see this as strictly a money issue, that is if someone has to hand over to private land forest owners money or they will cut their forest, that's sort of akin to blackmail."

"But we do believe," he continued, "that we could put together a program that has some ecological integrity to it, that has some recreational integrity to it, and that has some financial integrity to it. And the province, through the Ministry of Natural Resources is willing to work hard with private forest land owners on issues like sustainable harvesting, on issues like using your forested land for other types of recreational activities... and to ensure that people receive some revenue for it. We're also willing to work with them to ensure that they get the same treatment that private land forest owners in Quebec receive from the federal government."

Representatives of the OFSC could not be reached for comment prior to press time.

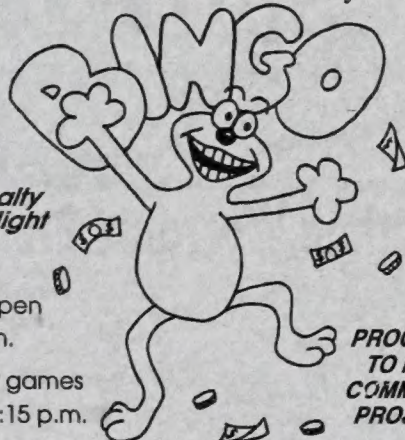

The announcement that the forest owners have decided not to stick to their original November 1 deadline was met with relief in the local business community.

Gloria Carnochan of Backwoods Marina said she was "most relieved by the decision... Now we can plan for our winter season and erect our new workshop."

MEMBER ORDER OF THE
GOLDEN RULE

Chamber elects board

by Andrew Milne

The Chamber of Commerce elected nine members to its board of directors at their annual meeting October 11.

Elected or re-elected at the meeting were Brian Dean, Rhonda Elstone, Dennis Casey, Bryan Brown, Gordon Monk, Chad Irvine, Wayne Cowling, Warren Riley, and Connie Simms.

Dean is president, as in his previous term. He runs Gifthouse North.

Rhonda Elstone is past president, and operates Elstone Construction and Highland Brewing with her husband Rick.

Following are brief profiles of the remaining electees and their business associations:

—Dennis Casey from Birch Point Lodge.

—Bryan Brown is Community Futures Coordinator.

—Gord Monk from the Gordon A. Monk Funeral Home.

—Chad Irvine from Trillium Drilling and Blasting, and runs the Haliburton office of H&R Block.

—Wayne Cowling from Hart Lodge.

—Warren Riley from IVP Productions, a photography studio.

—Connie Simms from Chez Brun Bed and Breakfast.

They join board members Ken Rydman, Bev MacDuff, Carol Moffat, Larry Tupling, and Mary-Jane Williams, who still have time left in their terms. Members are elected for two year terms.

Dean spoke briefly at the meeting about the year that has passed, and about the need for the chamber to promote Haliburton County to people outside the area.

"We have gone through very severe growing pains," said Dean, "We had to look at ourselves very honestly and change certain things we were doing, add things to present programming and do long-range future programming, which in turn causes problems which we absolutely weren't aware of."

Dean was however upbeat about the chamber's promotional activities.

Said Dean, "We let people know what Haliburton County was and we let people know what the chamber of commerce was. We went out and got members back who had been away from our fold for many years and we went out and got new members."

Dean also spoke to the concern of trail closures, and the concern that the publicity would damage the winter tourism economy, stressing that marketing would be necessary to ensure that the county stayed successful as a tourist region.

Said Dean, "If they do not come this year, they will not come back, because they will have found a new place."

"We took for granted," he said, "that the trails would always be there... from here on in we have to plan and ensure that we aren't placed in that kind of jeopardy ever again."

Owners of forested land in the Haliburton area had been threatening to close their forested lands to public access as of November 1 to protest taxation policies. Chamber sources felt this action, shutting out recreational snowmobilers, would have been a devastating blow to the winter economy of the region. Landowners have temporarily suspended the November 1 deadline, partly in response to these concerns.

Dean finished his address with a thank you to the board members and volunteers.

"We cannot function without volunteers."

Snow may be far from just about everyone's mind right now, but for one Minden character, the white stuff just can't arrive soon enough. Drifter, the mascot of the Minden Sled Dog Derby, appears raring to go as members of the organizing committee settle him into his sled. The display was set up in the window of the former Northland footwear store, on Main Street, to promote the annual derby, scheduled for January 21 and 22. Helping with the final touches are, from the left, Michael Shirley, Susan Wilson, Steve Loughed, and Val Loughed. For the moment at least, Drifter can enjoy the warm sunshine as it streams in the window and dream about the snowy weather yet to come.

All candidates meeting

Glamorgan council grilled over handling of funds

An October 8 all-candidates meeting for those running for Glamorgan municipal office was dominated by questions about the current council's handling of funds raised towards renovations to the community centre.

The meeting was attended by Tom Vos, Chuck Viner, Ron Muirhead, Jean Heatcote and Tom Brown, all of whom were running for councillor positions; by Peter Needham and Bill Challis, running for deputy-reeve; and by Lorrie Saville, Beverly MacDuff and Elva Bates, all running for reeve.

Given two minutes to do so, each of the candidates spoke briefly to the full house that turned up, about their qualifications and platforms.

Their opening comments, briefly:

— Vos spoke of his experience as a police officer, the importance of policing issues, and of his feeling that an open office door is important in government. Said Vos, "When people come in and sit down to talk about them, large problems become small problems."

— Viner presented himself as a candidate with experience running a business, experience he says he can use to help run a municipality. Said Viner, "We really have to elect some people to take care of the business of this township."

— Heathcote spoke of similar issues, and of her experiences. Among other things, she has been a registered nurse for 19 years. "There's a lot of attention that needs to be paid to policing issues, roads, and the dump," she said. "Feel free to call me, meet with me, discuss what's on your mind."

— Muirhead spoke of his experience working in waste management, and his community involvement in doing judo training. "If elected I will work towards a demonstrative democracy," said Muirhead.

— Needham spoke of his experience working on the Durham regional police force, and stressed the need for development in the area. "I'm here to work for you and to make sure the areas thrives and grows," he said.

— Challis addressed the phenomenon of 'downloading'. It takes "more expertise to get the job done with less money without letting the taxes get out of sight," he said.

— Bates spoke of a need for financial planning for the municipality. Said Bates, "Long term financial planning must be put in place... financial planning — not cost-cutting — is essential."

— Saville spoke of a need for municipal and county governments to cut operating costs to deliver services in an era of downloading. She suggested that municipal staff be cut, and said, "when I read that county council was looking at a new county building to take advantage of infrastructure spending I couldn't believe my eyes."

— MacDuff, the incumbent reeve, spoke of her record as reeve. Among other things, she proposed mining the landfill site to recover ground cover and the establishing of an official plan. "I have strived to represent all ratepayers," she said, "If re-elected I will continue."

But it was MacDuff's record as reeve that became the subject of much of the question period that followed. Volunteers of an organization which raised money towards the community centre were angry that the council had diverted some of this money to road projects. The question, answered once in one fashion, kept coming back, and the volunteers didn't appear particularly satisfied by the answers they got.

MacDuff's stance through the meeting was simply that to undertake the road projects without using money from the fund for the community centre would have required a 12 percent increase in taxes, and she didn't feel the ratepayers would have stood for it. She said that she had volunteered her time towards raising the money too, but she felt it came down to a decision between a rate hike and using the money from the fund.

But Bates was critical of this. Bates said she had also volunteered time for the fund, and continued, "With all due respect to this council, if proper financial planning had been done it wouldn't have had to make that decision."

AHM opposes special rights for Natives

Members of Anson, Hindon and Minden council passed a resolution opposing special fishing and hunting rights for Williams Treaty Indians.

The resolution was in response to an Ontario Federation of Anglers and Hunters newsletter. The Newsletter stated that the Ministry of Natural Resources is negotiating with central Ontario Indian bands after a Supreme Court ruling upheld the terms of the Williams Treaty, which was signed in 1923. The seven bands within the Williams Treaty area gave up any special hunting and fishing privileges in return for a cash settlement.

AHM deputy-reeve Lewis Stevens said that the ministry should abide by the Supreme Court ruling. He doesn't think native people should have privileges that everyone else doesn't. "It's almost a case of racial discrimination," Stevens said.

The resolution will be forwarded to Premier Bob Rae, Prime Minister Jean Chretien, Natural Resources Minister Howard Hampton and the Ministry of Fisheries and Oceans, among others.

Group formed to investigate credit union

A group of local citizens interested in forming a credit union in the Haliburton Highlands has formed a committee to further explore the possibilities.

Andy Campbell of the Haliburton Highlands Development Corporation, says the committee is intended to be a mix of citizens from areas around the county and from business and private interests, but was, as yet, unable to reveal the names of those involved.

Campbell had organized public meetings September 14 and 15, with representatives from the Parry Sound Credit Union, to gauge public interest in forming a credit union in Haliburton County.

Campbell says the committee expects to meet with the Parry Sound representatives again in the near future.

S.I.R.C.H. Women's Emergency House

In Appreciation

It was almost a year ago that S.I.R.C.H., together with the community, embarked on the challenge of building Women's Emergency House. Since the first meeting to discuss the creation of the project in Haliburton County, there has been an outpouring of support from hundreds of people. Donations of labour, services, furniture, clothes, equipment and time have been tremendous. The challenge to provide a safe haven for women leaving abusive relationships continues. We would like to take a moment now to express our deepest thanks to all the people and businesses named below who have contributed so much.

YWCA resource centre has a new home

The new YWCA Resource Centre, which is part of the Women's Safety Network, is officially open. The centre is now located in the lower level of the Halco Plaza in Haliburton. The expanded facility will provide support services for women who are living in abusive situations. Some of those services include advocacy, counselling and education.

The network has been in existence in Haliburton since the mid-1980s. The last location was in Hillside House in Haliburton.

With the new ground floor location, it offers better accessibility for all women, especially those who are physical challenged.

The facility has two full-time counsellors, Connie Thompson and Cathy Johnston. It will be open from 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday to Friday.

A Women's Resource Advisory Committee is in the process of being established and anyone interested in serving on the committee should contact Thompson or Johnston at 457-3355. To date, seven women have shown an interest in participating on the committee. A designated person on the committee will be issued with a key to the resource centre so access will be available during the evening hours and on weekends.

The facility boasts a homey atmosphere, with comfortable living room furniture and a fireplace. The kitchen will seat close to 30 people.

Counsellors Connie Thompson and Cathy Johnston at the new Women's Resource Centre in Haliburton.

Centre operators are hoping to increase the visibility and awareness of the resources that are available. The year 1994 is the International Year of the Family and November is "Wife Assault Prevention Month". The objective is to promote peace in the home. Candles are being sold by the network in the hopes that people will "light a candle for hope for victims of family violence". Proceeds from the sale of candles will go to the YWCA Women's Safety Network. Clergy in the area are being contacted and asked to devote one sermon in October or November to the subject of violence in the home.

Thompson said that statistics show that one in four women are living in an abusive situation.

"A lot of people don't know what their options are," she said.

A 24-hour, toll free telephone line (1-800-461-7656) has been set up to the Women's Safety Network in Peterborough. It was pointed out that callers can remain anonymous if they choose and no evidence of the call will show up on telephone bills.

Thompson and Johnson are trying to promote the visibility of the program and what alternatives are available to women in abusive situations.

"It has a lot of potential," Thompson said. "It's very self-directed. Wherever it goes is where the community wants it to go."

MABA Initiative welcomed

Welcome sign design presented to council

by Jerry Grozelle

The design for new signs to promote Minden along Highway 35 was presented by Gary Bloor and Dale Merrill at the Anson, Hindon and Minden council meeting last Thursday evening.

The estimated cost of two 13 feet by eight feet signs is $10,848, plus another $350 for permits from the ministry of Transportation. That figure doesn't include the cost of installation, but Merrill explained that there have been commitments to provide most of the materials and labour at little or no charge. Booth and Merrill asked council to pay the cost of the permits.

The project was initiated by the Minden Area Business Association (MABA). The association has had an excellent response to fund-raising for the signs, according to Merrill. So far, close to one third of the money for the project has been raised.

Sites for the signs have tentatively been chosen. The north sign would be placed just north of the Esso gas station, across from the north junction of Highways 35 and 121. The southern sign may be placed south of the Lutterworth boundary.

A couple of concerns were raised regarding that site. Since the sign would be erected on private property, there is no guarantee if the present owners should decide to sell, that a new owner would allow the sign to stay. Another concern is that the site is in Lutterworth Township and Lutterworth council has no interest in doing the paperwork to secure the necessary permit or in maintaining the sign if and when it is erected.

AHM council was receptive to the idea of securing the MTO permits and doing the paper work that has to be endorsed by Lutterworth Township.

The signs would be constructed of sand-blasted cedar. Artist Tara Lowe has been commissioned to do the work. She says that the signs would be maintenance free for at least 10 years, after which, some paint touch-up may be necessary.

Bloor explained that sponsorship for the signs would be sold at a rate of $50 per square foot. Those businesses and individuals who donate $50 or more toward the cost of the signs would receive a certificate acknowledging their contributions.

"We're trying to get the whole community involved," Bloor said.

Council expressed some concern about acquiring permits with less than half the funds raised for the project. Township officials will check with the MTO to see if there is a time limitation for signs to be installed after permits are approved.

MABA officials have been invited to the October 27 council meeting for further discussions. In the meantime, clarification on the permit and other issues is expected.

Middle ground

The Acting Health Services Board has found some middle ground on which a majority of its members can stand. At its meeting Wednesday evening, the board members, by a vote of 11-3, agreed to a compromise motion which would consolidate the acute care services at the Haliburton Hospital, give the green light to the addition of the 30 long-term care beds to the Haliburton Hospital, upgrade the facilities at Hyland Crest and create an emergency and outpatient service facility in Minden attached to Hyland Crest.

It is this final provision that will be most problematic for the community.

First and foremost, it will mean the closure of the Minden Hospital as we now know it. Many of the services area residents have come to expect at this facility will be transferred to Haliburton, altered or disappear altogether.

Secondly, the provision of an emergency care service, as outlined in the motion endorsed by the board, is not in sync with what the Ministry of Health said it would allow in the community which loses its hospital. Up to this point, the ministry officials have been adamant in their determination not to budge one iota on any of the provisions before the board. Some members feel, or perhaps hope, that in finally resolving the consolidation aspect of its mandate the ministry will be more open to negotiating a more secure position for those served by health facilities currently located in Minden. We certainly hope that such is the case.

The board members will have to be vigilant in ensuring that their vision of health care, as expressed in the Wednesday night motion, is not watered down. To allow it to be eroded would be a disservice to the individuals who look to these facilities for the services they provide and the reassurance their presence offers. As one of the board members pointed out during the discussion, if any plan is going to succeed it will require the endorsement of all residents of the service area. To isolate or ignore one area could gravely impact on the financial as well as the moral support the board's plans receive.

The decision of the Acting Health Services Board will not please everyone. However, it is the first time the board has attempted to take control of its mandate and begin the process of shaping a health care system for the service area. The community will be watching closely as the process evolves, to ensure the intentions expressed in last week's motion are not lost.

Distressed by NDP stand on the forest tax rebate

Editor:

As an individual, who is concerned about the economic viability of the Victoria-Haliburton area, I am distressed with the direction the the N.D.P. government is taking with the Managed Forest Tax Rebate. The government's short-sighted proposal has an immediate impact on the owners of private forest lands, a potential for disastrous effects on the Tourism Industry and a loss of employment opportunities.

The Liberal Party of Ontario knows that in order to strengthen the economy, to maintain and support job creation in areas such as Haliburton, that cooperative balance among industries has to be maintained. I can assure you that the concerns of the owners of private forest lands has been conveyed to the leader of the Liberal opposition.

On Friday, October 7, Lyn McLeod sent a letter to Premier Bob Rae expressing concern about his government's unacceptable neglect of Ontario's private forests. She demanded that he reinstate the Managed Forest Tax Rebate program, in order to alleviate the economic hardship that would affect both the owners of private forests, and the tourism industry in this area.

The citizens of Victoria-Haliburton Counties cannot afford the loss of jobs and tourism revenues that will result from the cancellation of the Managed Forest Tax Rebate Program. We must continue to send Bob Rae and the N.D.P. government a clear message that they cannot ignore rural Ontario.

Sharon McCrae,
Liberal Candidate,
Victoria-Haliburton

Background

A closer look at the Managed Forest Tax Rebate

by Andrew Milne

Somewhere at the heart of the issue regarding public access to private land is an economic concern inevitably connected to maintaining a sustainable forestry. The property owners say they cannot provide either without the Managed Forest Tax Rebate (MFTR).

Haliburton Forest Owners Association spokesman Peter Schleifenbaum's position on the MFTR is that the rebate is adequate in redressing the costs of sustainable forestry, and he says the program also makes enough demands on landowners applying for it that it is a reasonable guarantee they will engage in sustainable forestry. "There are a lot of strings attached," he says.

But Brian Cross, formerly of the MNR and now working as private forestry consultant, was less enthusiastic. Asked by The Times what foresters actually had to do to receive the rebate, his answer was, "Not much."

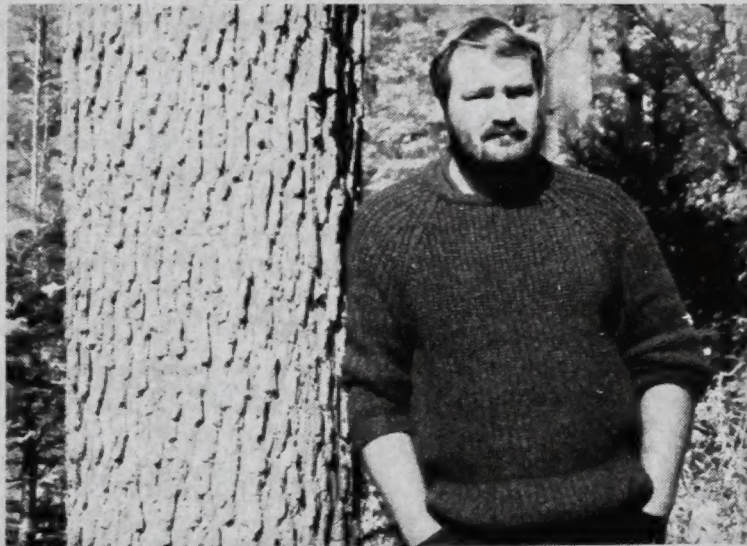

And even with reforms proposed to the rebate just prior to its being rescinded in 1993 — the context in which Schleifenbaum made his comments — some critics say the program really doesn't offer much for its cost.

The program does require that owners get a registered professional forester to write a management plan for their lands in order to receive the rebate. But, they say, if that plan just says you want nature to take its course (no management, no cutting), such measures would cost the forester nothing — apart, of course, from the profit they could make from selling stumpage fees on marketable timber — and they could still pocket the rebate.

Most foresters seem willing to concede that there were abuses of the system during the two decades the rebate was offered — landowners quite willing to butcher the standing forests on their property still managed to get money through the program.

The Ontario Fair Tax Commission report of December 1993 recommended that taxes for forested lands be treated similarly to those for farmland, the perceived inequity the Managed Forest Tax Rebate (MFTR) was originally conceived to redress. The report goes further, suggesting that the MFTR is an imperfect solution at best, and should be eliminated in favour of simply taxing the forested lands at a lower rate in the first place. Recommendation 93 of the report reads, "Wetlands, managed forests, and farming property other than the farm residence and one acre should be assessed as non-residential property based on its value in current use, established using available provincial data on soil quality and productivity, and should be subject to local non-residential taxes."

Peter Schleifenbaum from the Haliburton Forest and Wildlife Preserve has been leading the fight for the re-instatement of the Managed Forest Tax Rebate program.

In terms of costs, statistics available from the MNR for Dysart et al, reveal that under the program some $157,000 was paid out to 62 landowners in the municipality who applied for the 1990 taxation year. Most of these landowners have relatively small holdings and received proportionally small rebates. Of the 62 landowners receiving rebates in Dysart, 47 received rebates smaller than $1,000, leaving the other 15 to make up the difference.

The maximum paid for single holdings in that year was $25,000.

And Cross says there is still another approach available for dealing with land stewardship.

He points to Sweden, where laws — and laws with a lot more teeth than the bylaws under municipal jurisdiction here — control what private landowners can and can't do to forests.

He likens it to the difference between the "carrot and stick approach".

"I think our society probably isn't ready for the stick approach — where we tell the landowners precisely what they must do with their resource that they have stewardship over," says Cross.

"Sweden has the equivalent of a forestry practices act which tells the landowners what they must do and when they must do it in regards to effective forest management.

In Ontario he's [Schleifenbaum] complaining because the motivation isn't enough, and he wants to totally dismiss the possibility of the stick option — understandably — I would too if I were a landowner."

"But in your interest and in mine, and in the interest of future generations, we have to look at what is going to work. If it's a carrot, fine. If it's a stick, fine. Or combination, fine. But it must be something that works. Otherwise we're going to be looking at degradation of the forest resource in Haliburton County... In future generations that's not going to be acceptable."

Hope yet for the 'cosmetically challenged'

I hate to flog a dead horse, but this one still has some life in it. It's hitched to a bandwagon called Political Correctness.

You know Political Correctness. That's where other people tell you what it's okay for you to think or say or do.

It is Not Politically Correct for instance, to speak, as the author of Snow White did, of the Three Ugly Sisters.

To be Politically Correct, they are to be referred to as the Three Cosmetically Challenged Sisters.

I'm not making this up. A New York high school recently cancelled a production of Peter Pan because references — "redskin", "squaw" etcetera — were offensive to native Americans.

In New York?

Similarly, Golden Books, the largest publisher of fairy tales on this continent, has created a non-violent version of the classic fairy tale, The Three Little Pigs.

In the Golden Books rewrite, instead of falling into a pot of boiling water, the wolf sleeps outside, exhausted from huffing and puffing, and the pigs build a jail around him.

After all, the wolf is an endangered species you know.

The PC madness is everywhere. Two-thirds of British children's authors report that they have been censored on the ground of Political Incorrectness. One author was asked by his publisher to remove a scene involving a grassy lawn on the grounds that many children do not have gardens.

In Iowa last fall, students were advised not to wear certain costumes for trick or treating on Halloween.

Gypsy, Native, American Princess, African witch, elderly person, disabled person, East Indian, and hobo were specifically to be avoided for fear of offending the groups therein depicted.

Which leaves — what? Pumpkin costumes? Only until the Society for the Empowerment of Large Orange Vegetables forms a protest group.

Toronto has, of course, jumped on the Politically Correct bandwagon. A few months ago, City Council voted to change the working to O Canada.

For the sixteenth (count 'em) time.

Henceforth, when somebody warbles O Canada before a Blue Jay home game, the words will be changed from "our home and native land" to "our home and cherished land".

"True patriot love in all thy sons command" will become "true patriot love in all of us command".

Seems some of the Toronto councillors found the song lyrics confusing. "I came to this country in 1966 and I've had to pretend I was a man and a native," grouched Councillor Ila Bossons.

Poor

thing. I trust she wears a name tag and her mother still pins her mittens to her coat sleeves.

It's worse than that. Let me introduce you to Frank Balun. Frank's a 69-year-old grandfather who's retired and likes to work in his backyard garden down in Hillside, New Jersey. One day Frank discovered that a rat was eating his tomatoes. He did the sensible thing: he trapped it in a squirrel cage, killed it with a broomstick then called the Humane Society to come and take the carcass away.

The animal control officer responded by smacking Frank with two summons, and the threat of a six-month jail term and/or a fine of up to $1500.

Frank Balun was accused of "animal abuse". The officer maintained that the rat "deserved a humane method of euthanasia".

Fortunately, they're not all loony down in Hillside, New Jersey. The public flocked to Mister Balun's defence. The head of the local health board said he deserved a medal, not a trial. "We encourage people to kill rats because they carry disease," he said.

The charges were dropped, but Frank Balun's still steamed. "I want my day in court," he says. "I want people to know that this man (the animal control official) abuses authority and should be curbed."

Amen, Mister Balun. I hope you get your chance to haul this meddling pea-brain in front of a judge.

What's more, I hope the judge clobbers the rat.

Sign project moving ahead

The hustle and bustle of the summer has kept the members of the Minden Area Business Association very busy and therefore formal meetings of the organization have been very difficult to arrange. Several sub-committee meetings have taken place and the board of directors is happy to announce that the "Welcome to Minden" sign campaign is receiving continued support with contributions coming in each week. With the arrival of fall, and time being a little more available, the association intends to get busy raising the remainder of the funds needed to finance the construction of the welcome signs.

Several of Minden's service clubs have voiced approval and added their promise of financial assistance. Their fiscal as well as moral support is greatly appreciated.

The association is striving to have the signs made, tradesmen lined up and volunteers at the ready, with the erection of the signs to take place in the spring of 1995....once the ground thaws, of course.

The two locations for the signs have been approved by the Ministry of Transportation, with a formal letter having been received last month. Dan 'Our Sign Man' Mills is to be commended in his efforts in negotiating with the powers that be at the MTO.

Representatives of the MABA attended the Anson, Hindon and Minden council meeting on October 13 and received a verbal commitment from council to sponsor the application for the construction of the signs. Council in general is pleased to see our group working together to produce the signs and the MABA appreciates its support and assistance.

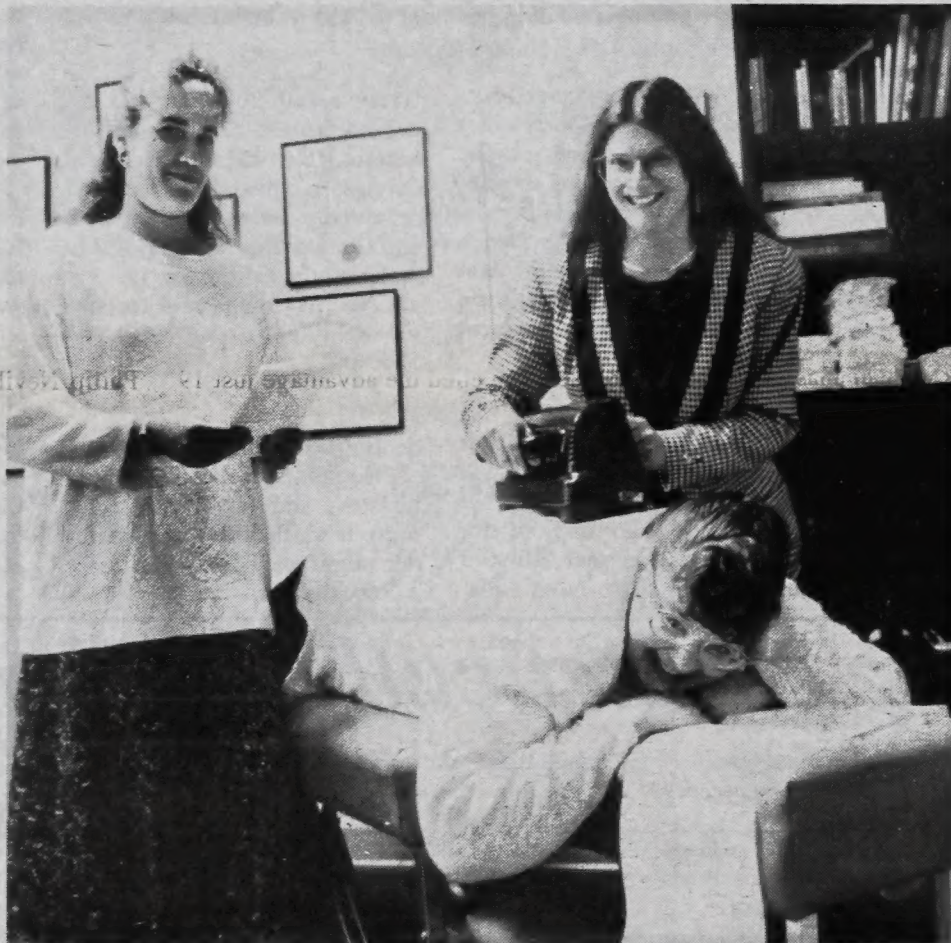

The organization is still in need of members and volunteers and we invite all interested parties to join us. If you would like more information, a representative can be reached at 286-3016.

Special thanks again to all the businesses and individuals who are helping to make our project a success.

OMHA atom Monarchs on track with 4-3 win over Bobcaygeon

by Jerry Grozelle

Coach Barry Shaw blames a lack of practice time for his atom OMHA team's 9-3 loss to Fenelon Falls on October 8 in Minden. Combine that with Fenelon's month of ice time prior to the game and the Monarchs had a formidable challenge on their hands for the first game of the season.

"We worked hard but made some costly mistakes in our own end," coach Shaw said.

Shaw added that Minden goalie Jeremy Davis "played well despite the score".

Minden's marksmen in the opening game were Joshua Shaw, Kent Greer and Trevor Woods. Jamie Colliss had a pair of assists, with one helper each going to Shaw and Greer.

The scheduled second game of the season, which was supposed to be played in Cannington, had to be postponed because of poor ice conditions at the Cannington arena.

Bobcaygeon's atom team came to Minden for a game on Tuesday, October 11. That game was a much more exciting contest, with end-to-end action throughout.

Joshua Shaw opened the scoring for Minden at the 1:02 mark of the first period. Trevor Woods assisted. That was the only goal of the first period.

Bobcaygeon got back on even terms a minute and a half into the middle frame.

The Monarchs jumped in front again

Scramble: Minden OMHA atom netminder Philip Newell keeps a sharp eye on the puck as Bobcaygeon tries to tie the game in the dying minutes. Josh Shaw (9) scored all four goals for Minden as the Monarchs edged Bobcaygeon 4-3.

at the 4:34 mark with an unassisted goal by Shaw.

Bobcaygeon replied again two minutes later and the score was deadlocked at 2-2.

The visitors went ahead 3-2 with 1:59 remaining in the second period but Minden cancelled the advantage just 19 seconds later. Woods set Shaw up for his third of the game.

Just 4:09 remained in the third period when Shaw scored his fourth marker of the game to break the tie. Jamie Colliss assisted on that one.

Despite some close calls, including a Bobcaygeon centering pass that went off a Minden defender and just missed the open corner behind Monarch netminder

Philip Neville, the home team held on for the 4-3 win.

Coach Shaw said that his team played a better game in its own end with better puck control and crisper passes.

"We were more aggressive and created a lot of scoring chances," he said. "Goalie Philip Neville played well for us, making some timely saves."

"Better effort and smarter play won the game for us," Shaw concluded.

Tykes give good effort in spite of loss

In spite of a 6-0 loss to Fenelon Falls, the Minden tyke A Monarchs played a strong game on October 8, especially goaltender Sean Keaney.

Those who saw the game would agree that without his outstanding effort, the score might easily have been double the number on the scoreboard.

The Monarchs had some good scoring opportunities, but Lady Luck refused to smile on them.

A few shots rang off the goal posts and others were a whisker wide of the mark.

Minden, Sunderland tie 3-3

Minden's OMHA bantam Monarchs battled to a 3-3 draw against Sunderland Saturday in Minden.

The Monarchs had a 3-0 lead at one point, capitalizing on the man advantage as Sunderland players couldn't stay out of the penalty box.

When they realized they weren't getting anywhere taking penalties, the Sunderland boys changed their ways and battled back to tie the game at 3-3.

Chris Neilson scored twice for Minden with Sheamus Donnery netting the other one.

The opening game of the season for the Minden bantams saw them give up a 2-0 decision to Millbrook.

The loss to Millbrook was bad enough, but adding injury to insult, winger Nathan Stephenson will be out of the game for an undetermined amount of time. Stephenson suffered a broken jaw when he took a check at centre ice with his head down.

Men's soccer season ends

Except for a couple of exhibition games, the Haliburton men's soccer team is finished for the season. The team played in the Huronia District Soccer League's B division championship tournament earlier this month.

Haliburton lost its opening game 1-0 to the division-leading Huntsville Strikers.

The highlight of that game for the local squad was the goal keeping of Lutz Haedicke, who stopped two penalty kicks.

Haliburton won its second game 1-0 over Midland United. Hans Walters scored the Haliburton goal.

Huntsville went undefeated to win the division championship.

The men's team will play an exhibition match against the HHSS Redmen on Sunday, October 23. Kick-off is slated for 2 p.m.

Lougheed scores natural hat trick

by Jerry Grozelle

Westside Jug City, Home Hardware and Sid Stamp Fuels were the winners in Minden Men's Hockey Association play on October 10.

Westside 4, Times 3

Westside overcame a 2-0 deficit to edge The Times 4-3 in the evening's opening contest.

Paul Mayo scored two in a row for The Times, with assists going to Ron May and Dennis McKee.

Before the first period was over, Dave Pettes and Dave Rogers notched one apiece for Westside to knot the score at 2-2. Paul Walker set up the Pettes goal and Scott Hamilton and Craig Crowe drew assists on the Rogers goal.

Westside took the lead for the first time on a goal by Pettes in the second period. Andy Campbell assisted.

Steve Crowe evened the score at 3-3 on a setup from Mark Thompson.

Scott Danilko netted the game winner for Westside, converting a pass from Dave Ross.

Home 9, Hartwick 5

Goal scoring was the highlight of the night's second game. A total of 14 markers were added to the scoreboard. When the final buzzer sounded, Home Hardware was in front by a 9-5 count.

Home Hardware led 4-2 by the end of the first period after falling behind 2-1 earlier in the frame. Hartwick Construction drew first blood in the second period, narrowing the gap to 4-3. But that's as close as the Hartwick team would get. Home pumped in three more before Hartwick got another one. Home notched two more before Hartwick got the last marker of the game.

Lawrence Lougheed scored a natural hat trick in the second period. He also had a pair of assists. Wyatt Nesbitt and Dave Hartwick scored two each and singles went to Kent Taylor and John Ballantyne. Taylor had three assists for the winners, while Ballantyne and Nesbitt had two each.

Gord Wood, Glen Hall, Ivan Ingram, Ritchie Mills and Clark Craig were the Hartwick snipers with one each. Nesbitt had three assists to go with his goal, Hall had a pair and single helpers went to Jerry Campbell, Wood and Dean Sisson.

Stamp 9, KDD 0

Trini Elias scored twice and assisted on two more while Gary Harrison notched two goals and one assist for the Stamp team. Greg Hurle, Dave Dollo, Boomer Stamp, Tom Haley and Scott Nesbitt added singles to the winning tally. Stamp and Dollo picked up three assists each. Elias had two helpers, with one each going to Hurle, Nesbitt and Jarrett Campbell.

Brett Foster earned the shutout between the Sid Stamp Fuels pipes.

Use of tennis courts expected to increase

Tennis instructor Jack Richardson attended the meeting of Anson, Hindon and Minden council to give an update of the use of the new Minden tennis courts.

He said that the courts haven't been "heavily used" so far but he expects that use will increase as more people become aware of the availability of the facility.

Classes for pupils from Archie Stouffer Elementary School have been conducted and Richardson said there is a small nucleus of young people who are "keen and enthusiastic" about the game.

Since the courts opened, eight or nine adults have also taken lessons.

Richardson suggested a couple of ways of increasing participation. He said that the municipality should consider holding registrations to give people specific times and encourage a commitment from those interested in taking part. He also suggested running coming events ads in the newspaper informing potential participants of the opportunities that will be available.

Reeve Bern Berry suggested that a notation be made to invite Richardson to a meeting of the Parks and Recreation committee in late winter or early spring to firm up plans for the 1995 tennis season.

Getting their kicks: Jonathan Bishop of the HHSS Redmen (right) battles with a Fenelon rival for possession of the ball during last Wednesday's senior soccer game in Haliburton. The senior Redmen downed the Falcons 2-1 to clinch first place in the Kawartha West standings. The junior Redmen gave up a 1-0 loss to their Fenelon rivals.

Senior Redmen clinch first place

The Haliburton Highlands Secondary School Redmen senior boys soccer team clinched first place in the Kawartha West High School Soccer League with a dramatic 2-1 win over the Fenelon Falls Falcons last Wednesday in Haliburton.

"Play was even for most of the game," said HHSS coach Walter Tose.

The Falcons took advantage of the bright sun shining in Haliburton goal keeper Roberto Guerra's eyes in the first half to score the first goal of the game.

With 10 minutes left in the game, Jerry Corby scored on a two-touch corner kick from Jonathan Bishop and Ryan Goodall, to tie the game.

Then, with less than five minutes to go, Scott Bacon lofted the ball high into the air, forcing the Fenelon keeper to stare into the sun. He misjudged the kick and Bacon's well-timed shot soared into the right corner of the net for the win.

The senior Redmen have one more regular-season game against the Weldon Wildcats of Lindsay. That game will be played this Thursday, October 27 in Haliburton. Kick-off time will be 3:30 p.m. for the seniors. The juniors will take to the field an hour earlier, at 2:30.

With first place clinched, the senior Redmen will play the Kawartha West Championship game at home, on Tuesday, October 25, starting at 2:30 p.m. Which team will provide the opposition has yet to be decided.

Bagshaw paces midgets to victory

Minden's OMHA midget Monarchs got off to a good start on October 8. They played host to Fenelon Falls, downing the visitors 7-2 in their first game of the season.

Tom Bagshaw paced the Minden attack, scoring a hat trick and assisting on one more. Bagshaw also netted one that was disallowed. Dennis Woods, Scott Bailey, Curtis Fielding and Jeff Wray notched the other Minden markers. Dave Raback drew a pair of assists, with single helpers going to Rob Reid and Curtis Reynolds.

The Monarchs took a 3-0 lead by the end of the first period and jumped in front 6-0 in the second frame. Bagshaw's second goal, with 1:46 left in the first period, proved to be the game winner.

name, date animal shot, township where animal was shot and sex of the animal shot.

Hunters will receive a blaze orange hat in exchange for a suitably prepared deer or moose hide. In the Minden area, hides should be taken to the Minden Live Bait and Tackle Shop, located beside Minden Auction Barn at the intersection of Highway 35 and 121. The hours of operation at this collection centre are 8:30 a.m. to 5:00 p.m., Monday to Saturday.

The School Bus Operators Of Haliburton County Would Like To Remind You That The Week Of October 17 - 21 Is School Safety Week

PRACTICE THE FOLLOWING SCHOOL BUS SAFETY TIPS AT ALL TIMES

At the bus stop

Dress appropriately. Be at the bus stop on time. Wait well away from the road - no pushing or shoving. If you must cross the road wait for the bus to stop, look both ways and look to the driver for their signal that it's okay to cross. Use the hand rail when boarding.

On the bus

Take your seat and stay there until it's time to get off. Don't open your windows without the driver's permission, never put your arms or head out the window. Speak quietly don't yell or scream. Listen to the driver, do what he/she says!

Getting off the bus

Carry all your belongings in a knapsack or bag - never try to carry it all in your arms. Use the hand rail when leaving the bus. Walk three steps from the side of the bus and ten steps forward before crossing in front of the bus. Stop and look back to the driver for his/her signal telling you it is safe to cross - remember to walk not run. If you hear the bus horn sound, Stop and look back to the driver for direction. Should you drop something while crossing 'leave it there' until the bus has gone - then with the help of an older person go back and get it. DO NOT CHASE AFTER ANYTHING, BEND DOWN TO PICK IT UP OR RUN BACK IN FRONT OF THE BUS TO RETRIEVE IT!

The partnership continues

Stanhope community police committee marks first year

The Stanhope-Carnarvon Police Support Association held its first annual meeting October 13.

The organization has been started, organizers say, to meet a perceived need in the Stanhope-Carnarvon community. It will be organizing such initiatives as a Neighbourhood Watch program and a cottage patrol, in which volunteers periodically check on seasonal residences to be sure that they are secure and have not been broken into or vandalized.

The Ontario Provincial Police (OPP) used to offer a similar service, but says it is no longer in a position to do so. A similar volunteer organization in the Wilberforce area is already doing patrols.

Lynda Burley, chairperson of the organization, said, "Community policing is basically a partnership between us and the police. They can't be everywhere in the county at once. It takes a while to cover all 1,486 square miles of it. By being their eyes and ears and by working with them to solve our own problems, we can be part of the solution and not part of the problem."

Staff-Sergeant Dennis Edlington of the Minden OPP said of community policing in general, "All we know — as police — is that the system wasn't working. We couldn't cope. We had to take a step back have a look and really assess what we were here for — what we were really trying to do."

"What we were really trying to do," he continues, "was to protect the community with a bunch of blue suits. We found we couldn't do that. There's just too many people out there, too many different circumstances, too many private interests, a lot of people with a lot of different thoughts, different ideas, a lot of conflict in the homes, in the community, everywhere. And if I can only put three of four uniforms out on the road for the county of Haliburton, I sure can't protect it sufficiently."

Community policing, says Edlington, isn't something the community does for the police however.

"It's for the community."

The volunteer association has also established a merchant alert program. Explained Burley, "It is a means of alerting merchants of any bogus cheques, counterfeit bills, or credit card fraud occurring in the area. It is activated by one telephone call from the OPP to one specific person on the program... [that member] then initiates a telephone fan-out. In this way all members of the Stanhope-Carnarvon area will be alerted within 20 to 30 minutes... It's a program we hope we never have to use. But should it be necessary the mechanism is in place. And if it saves even one of our merchants from loss it's worth the effort."

Minden OPP Staff Sergeant Dennis Edlington presents an identification tag to Lynda Burley, chair of the Stanhope-Carnarvon Police Support Association. The tags are to identify persons doing patrols of seasonal residences, so that their participation in the program can be verified should anyone encountering them on their property have questions.

Burley said she also hopes the organization will be able to coordinate programs of self-defence for women, along with a number of other initiatives.

Lioness presentations

Members of the Minden Lioness Club made a number of presentations recently including a donation of $1455 to Hyland Crest and a certificate of appreciation to Don Crowe of Kawartha Dairy. Isabel Keefer accepts the funds on behalf of Hyland Crest from Kelly Moore and Lioness president Janet Readman, in the photo on the left, while the club president presents Don Crowe with the appreciation award. The Minden Hospital equipment fund also received a boost from the club with $1945, raised from the Bedpan Blitz, presented to Hospital Board trustee Rheta Jones. Members of the club on hand for the presentation included Doris Thompson, Dorothy Boyd, Jo Crawford, Edna Moulton, Carol Hill and Muriel Harrington.

Renew your licences before heading south

If you are planning to winter out of Canada, don't leave without checking the expiry date of your motor vehicle license plates. Fines are hefty for out-of-date licenses, and you don't want to be held up at the border on your return.

Your motor vehicle license can be renewed at any Ministry of Transportation Vehicle License Office up to six months in advance. A drivers' license can be renewed at any driving and vehicle licensing office up to two months in advance if it's a straightforward renewal, whether a photo is required or not. For early renewal in advance of two months, the license must be renewed at a driver examination centre.

A licence can also be renewed by mail or by a person other than the license holder, as long as no photo is required, and providing the applicant has signed the valid renewal form.

For further information contact the nearest Ministry of Transportation Motor Vehicle Office in your area.

Many service agencies in the County of Haliburton require the assistance of volunteers to help run their programs on a continuing basis or short-term for special projects. If you would like to help, contact your nearest Information Centre to register.

From conqueror to global steward

Harvard's Edward O. Wilson is a world renowned authority on the variety of living organisms occupying the planet. His expertise rests on a lifetime consumed with collecting and studying ants.

Reflections

by David Suzuki

Wilson's latest book, Naturalist (Island Press, Washington), is an autobiography that informs us of how the natural world's wonders became the formative focus of his childhood and persist as the source of his creativity and environmental activism. He emphasizes that nature has been the source of our biological and social origins, provides the biophysical underpinnings of our lives and inspires with wonder and endless mysteries to ponder.

Wilson's story raises questions about our rush to lure students into science by stocking schools with expensive, glitzy interactive CD-ROMS and computers. The hi-tech machines carry an implicit worship of human technology and ingenuity, at whose altar much of the global environment had been sacrificed.

Wilson, who grew up in the Deep South during the Depression, was a shy child whose parents divorced when he was seven. Yet his lost family life was compensated by the education he received in the swamps of Alabama and coastal beaches of Florida. The very first memory he recounts is of a scyphozoan, a giant jellyfish, in the Gulf of Mexico. Like many scientists, Wilson's research career grew out of his childhood fascination with nature.

"A child comes to the edge of deep water with a mind prepared for wonder. He is like a primitive adult of long ago, an acquisitive early Homo ... he is given a compelling image that will serve in later life as a talisman, transmitting powerful energy that directs the growth of experience and knowledge. He will add complicated details and context from his culture as he grows older. But the core image stays intact."

These days, acclaimed educational TV programs like "Sesame Street" perpetuate an accelerating information and sensory assault that precludes time for reflection or contemplation. Time is priceless: "Adults forget the depth of languor into which the adolescent mind descends with ease. They are prone to undervalue the mental growth that occurs during daydreaming and aimless wandering. When I focused on the ponds and swamp lying before me, I abandoned all sense of time. Net in hand, Khaki collecting satchel hung by a strap from my shoulder, I surveyed the edges of the ponds, poked shrub and grass clumps, and occasionally waded out into shallow stretches of open water to stir the muddy bottom. Often I just sat for long periods scanning the pond edges and vegetation for the hint of a scaly coil, a telltale ripple on the water's surface, the sound of an out-of-sight splash."

Sadly, opportunities to duplicate that kind of childhood experience have become increasingly rare as wilderness vanishes and more and more children grow up surrounded by a human-created environment of concrete, tarmac and television. But even in the most developed urban areas, there is an opportunity to experience wild creatures. All we have to do is focus on the realm of the small.

"They are everywhere, dark and ruddy specks that zigzag across the ground and down holes, milligram-weight inhabitants of an alien civilization who hide their daily rounds from our eyes. For over 50 million years, ants have been overwhelmingly dominant insects everywhere on the land outside the polar and alpine ice fields. By my estimate, between one and 10 million billion individuals are alive at any moment, all of them together weighing, to the nearest order of magnitude, as much as the totality of human beings."

Then Wilson offers this humbling thought: "If we were to vanish today, the land environment would return to the fertile balance that existed before the human population explosion ... But if the ants were to disappear, tens of thousands of other plant and animal species would perish also, simplifying and weakening the land ecosystem almost everywhere."

After a life spent revelling in the abundance and variety of Earth's life forms, Wilson has an urgent message: "We are bound to the rest of life in our ecology, our physiology, and even our spirit ... When the century began, people still thought of the planet as infinite in its bounty. The highest mountains were still unclimbed, the ocean depths never visited, and vast wilderness stretched across the equatorial continents ... In one lifetime, exploding human populations have reduced wildernesses to threatened captured reserves. Ecosystems and species are vanishing at the fastest rate in 65 million years. Troubled by what we have wrought, we have begun to turn our role from local conqueror to global steward ... our perception of the natural world as something distinct from human existence, has thus also changed fundamentally."

More from Wilson next week.

Residents enjoy fashion show

October has arrived with its blaze of beautiful coloured leaves.

Sunday Estalla Burch came to read to us even though she had to drive to Toronto when she finished the reading. We appreciate and thank her very much. In the evening the Chapel service was taken by Rev. John Burgess with Jean Mason playing the organ. Thank you both.

Judy Stevenson had Sunday with her family and friends to celebrate her birthday which was October 4. They had lunch in the auditorium.

Monday afternoon we were treated to a fashion show of the Lantana Clothing line. Commentator for the event was Marlene Shortreed. Models were Dottie Muirhead, Ellen Holden, Kathy Woods, Donna Black, Sandy Lawrence and Donna Wallace. The show was a fund-raiser for the outdoor activities area. We thank everyone for their support. Special thanks to Dottie Muirhead, Bonnie Fullan and Ellen Holden for selling tickets. After the show a luncheon was served and the residents were able to order the clothing. The show was a huge success.

Tuesday Chapel service was conducted by Barbara Trocewicz. Tuesday afternoon under the direction of Dottie Muirhead and Donna Wallace, we made decorations for Thanksgiving. Corinne Aresenault had cards in the evening and we thank her whole-heartedly.

Wednesday we had fitness and at 11 a.m. the bus was loaded to go to the Brown Owl for our lunch. We had a very enjoyable lunch and thank the owners for their hospitality. The helpful volunteers were Donna Wallace, Dottie Muirhead and Nancy Hibrandt, a new volunteer. Of course the old faithfuls Doris and Linda took us. We loaded the bus again and drove to Kawartha Dairy for ice cream, donated by Donna Wallace whom we thank sincerely. In the evening we had music and singing by Bill Payne and Eldon Deacon. They were joined by Jack on the piano and Audrey thank all of them.

The Thursday Tea Party was hosted by Chris Dollo, Kathleen Cannon and Betty Herlihey. They provided a delicious lunch and once again we thank them for their faithfulness. The entertainment was by boys and girls from the Messiah Christian Academy founded by Don Waterhouse. It is located in the former Martin Executive Offices in Harcourt. The children sang hymns and choruses and improvisational sketches. They were very good. Thanks to everyone who participated. Thursday evening Lee Ann Schlosser called bingo for us. Thank you Lee Ann.

Friday afternoon Happy Hour proved successful with entertainment provided by Mike and Connie Biagi and Frank Faulkner. We enjoyed their music. Doris played the piano. Volunteers were Bonnie Fullan, Pearl Cowan and Dottie Muirhead who brought a treat of chocolate and plain Rice Krispie squares. Thanks Dottie.

We had the turkey draw during Happy Hour. The lucky winners were Jenny Wright, John Sawyer and Linda Fry. Nice going ladies.

Friday evening we were treated to some special entertainment. We enjoyed the talents of the World Famous Comedian, Adam Timoon. He played the guitar and sang. He asked different residents their names and would sing a number and put their name in it. It was most enjoyable to say the least! All this was made possible by Rick Tustin, the owner of the "new" Red Umbrella Inn. Thank you so much Rick for your thoughtfulness and to Adam Timoon for your wonderful comical entertainment.

Welcome to May Mann our newest resident.

The colours are still beautiful. If you haven't seen them yet, hurry and get out before the beauty has gone

The Alzheimer Society of Victoria received a boost for its efforts last week as Worthy Matron Ruth Rice of the Haliburton Chapter of the Order of the Eastern Star presented the organization with a donation of $1010. Past President of Alzheimer's Victoria, Norma Dolighan accepted the contribution. The Haliburton County Home Support Services, which provides support for local Alzheimer patients, was represented by Sherry Mulholland, left. The funds were raised through raffles and donations.

Around the County Town

by Jeanne Sears (call 286-1538)

Most families had visitors over the Thanksgiving Weekend and the colour of our trees was really great this year. Many chartered buses came through our county and are sure they enjoyed the tours as the weather, a little cooler, was really pleasant last week.

Miss Pat Reid of Toronto was a weekend guest with her mother Gladys Reid over the Holiday.

The Bessie Burk family and the Gerald Hicks' family of Lochlin had a great visit over Thanksgiving Weekend and really enjoyed their time together.

All good wishes to these people: Lilian Davidson, Jean Lacey, May Hicks, Verne Graham, Sam Rogers, Ev Cox and Marian Ingram. May you be well soon.

Congratulations to the newlyweds Dr. and Mrs. Mark Chayer who were married at Niagara-on-the-Lake last Saturday and some of their friends from Minden were there. A great welcome to the new "Mrs." We hope you are both very happy in our village.

Mary Cox, Beryl and Goldie Henderson were in Kitchener visiting the latter's daughter Cindy and Bob Guy and family. The rest of the Henderson family was all present for a great family Thanksgiving.

Sincere sympathy goes to the family and friends of the late John Birmingham whose funeral was last week.

Congratulations to Pat Delcourt of Elora with ticket #1426 winner of the County Town Quilt, drawn by Lewis Stevens with Lee Oster, Irene Moore and Barb LeBlanc present at this time, Saturday, October 8.

At the Tuesday afternoon weekly Legion 636 Seniors Group Euchres, on Tuesday, October 11, winners were: Shirley Elcome, Elli Langpohl and Mary Wilson and lone hands went to Irene Fuhr.

On Saturday, October 8 the draw was made by Shirley Kirk for the Legion 636 Senior Quilt with the winner being Mrs. Toms of Bridgenorth. Congrats to her. Sorry I didn't win that. How about you?

At the weekly Stanhope Bridge Club on October 4, winners were: Beth Crutchley, Pearl Foster and Betty Culley. Then on October 11 there were three slams bid and made with a huge score of 9570. A record for Stanhope Bridge Club. Winners of that day were: Vange Croucher, Mary Stevenson and Helen Rice. This club welcome all to join them Tuesday afternoons at 1 p.m.

Wednesday night October 12 there were Bid Euchre games at 7 p.m. For Moonshots winners were Grace Dixon and Jim Skinner. High scorers were Helen Lee, Grace Dixon and Margaret Fletcher and for the men folk Harry Hodgson, Brian Henderson and Stan Cline.

We note that The Times is sponsoring an all-candidates night for the municipal election and this will be held at the Archie Stouffer Elementary School gymnasium. The Minden council candidates and those for the school board will be there. The date is October 27 at 7 p.m.

If you want to brush up your "skills", we at The Terrace, have a "friendly" game of Cribbage Friday afternoons at 1:30 and then Bid Euchres on Saturday afternoons starting at 1 p.m. sharp.

Called in were an Open Euchre tournament at Royal Canadian Legion Branch 441, Kinouit. Sunday, October 23, at 1 p.m., Minden RC Branch 636 are having a spaghetti dinner Saturday, October 29 at 6 p.m. and you need tickets from their bar before this.

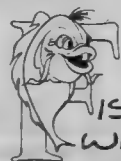

On Wednesday, October 26 Minden Legion is having Kirsten & Barry of Monk Funeral Home with "Planning Funerals". This talk is open to everyone.

Audrey Northey just returned from a trip to Western Canada visiting Pat Graham in Parksville on Vancouver Island, and friends and family in Feinie, Vancouver, Cranbrook and Calgary.

Mrs. Edith Luke from Hyland Crest, spent an enjoyable Thanksgiving with her daughter Donna and family on Kushog Lake.

Winners of the Club 35 Euchre held October 10: 50-50 draw - Margaret Fletcher, lone hands - Merv Bunker, high lady - Jean Randell, high man - Harold Smith, others - Mary Schad, Bob Lewis and Rhoda Woolner. Special awards to Mary Schad and Tom Pearson. Next Wheels to Meals dinner is October 25 at 12 noon.
